1. What is the VSNA Annual Convention?

   It is a ‘festival’ organized by like-minded people practicing the preaching of the Veerashaiva (Lingayat) way of life, philosophy and religion. It is a festival designed to create appreciation and awareness of cultural, religious and social values and the heritage and legacy we have been blessed to inherit from our ancestors. It is a festival that exposes our youth to the noble preaching and principles as explained by the Lingayat Sharanas of the 12th Century.

2. What are the Convention Objectives?

   A. To bring together folks who practice similar way of life and religious ideology and philosophy.

   B. To prevent the Veerashaiva families from being absorbed and assimilated by the melting pot of diverse cultures and religious ideologies prevalent in our adopted land.

   C. To rekindle, rejuvenate and inculcate our cherished religious and philosophical values in our off-springs and ourselves.

   D. To foster and build amiable and amicable bonds and bridges among the fellow Veerashaivas living in the sub-continent of North America.

   E. To facilitate the dissemination of information and knowledge of our esteemed religion via discourses by well-read and respected guests.

   F. To conduct meetings of VSNA officers to rethink, reassess and redirect the organization.

For additional information on this score, please see the latest VSNA Publication: Whither Goes the VSNA (History of the VSNA) (1007).

3. Convention Planning

   The following guidelines are meant to facilitate the hosting of the VSNA Annual Conventions. Given below is a stepwise description of the things to be done by the host-chapter.

   1. The first step thus involves getting the approval of the BOD. To do this, the prospective host chapter should submit a written request to the VSNA for permission to organize the annual convention in consultation with the VSNA President.

   2. The prospective host chapter should elect a Convention Chairperson and a Co-Chairperson after having received the approval of the VSNA’s BOD.
3. Hence there is no need to re-invent the wheel and waste precious effort and time in scratching the heads to come up with detailed plans and programs. Over the course of some 30 years, plenty of experience and information has been accumulated and available on how to go about hosting a successful convention. After completing Steps 1 and 2, the newly designated Convention Chairperson and a Co-Chairperson should immediately get in touch with the immediate past Convention Chairman and solicit her/his help. This simple step will put experience at the finger-tips of the host chapter.

4. After this preliminary work, call the General Body meeting of your Chapter to ascertain the interest of the members about manning the various committees. Prior to this, the designated Convention Chairperson and Co-Chairperson should in consultation with their Chapter president should prepare a listing of the members, their talents and skills. This would be of help in assigning the chairmanship of the various committees. In assigning the chairmanship, attention should be paid to the fact that the person so nominated can work together with other members cooperatively and willingly.

5. Although there is no hard and fast rule as to the number of committees to be formed to successfully conduct an annual convention, based on our previous experience the creation of the following committees is suggested. If need be, establish sub-committees to facilitate the smooth functioning.

Note: A word about naming the Fund Raising Committee. Needless to say that this is a very important committee. Proper care and caution should be exercised in selecting members and chair for this committee, for the success of a convention, unfortunately for us, depends on the ability to raise money to meet the convention costs.

Convention Theme
Careful consideration should be given to choosing the theme of your convention. The topic you select should be meaningful and relevant to the Veerashaiva way of life. The title should be eye-catching, motivating and inspiring enough to mobilize the energy and spirit of the general membership.

Convention Venue

1. The selection of the convention hall is of great importance not only to the organizers but also to the attendees and the participants. In this process, the host chapter should keep in mind: Convenience and Cost.

   (a) The site should be convenient to out of town and out of state folks who would be attending the convention.
   (b) The hall should be big enough to accommodate maximum number of persons estimated.
   (c) The facility should be located in a desirable and decent locality with all the facilities to meet the needs of the participants.

2. Hotel Selection

   Be “choosy” in selecting the hotel to house the participants during the convention. The hotel should be situated in a good locality to afford protection to the participants and their children, who come with all their glittering ornaments. It should be conveniently situated to enable the participants to go the convention hall. If it is not located in the hotel itself, obtain a signed contract. Please see that you get discounted rates for the participants. If you guarantee a number of rooms, you would get a discount and also free rooms to hold the VSNA meetings. Sometimes, the hotel ownership gives free rooms, which you can use to house convention guest(s).

Guest Selection

Often times this turns out to be a more conventional and head-ache job, which involves personal choices. Consideration should be given to selecting and honoring an individual who is well-versed and grounded in the Veerashaiva philosophy, way of life and literature. Since your first choice may fizzle out, it is advisable to have a contingency prioritized list of at least three guests. In preparing this list, the host chapter should consult the VSNA President. The invitation will be extended both in the names of the Convention Chair and the VSNA President.

Convention Budget
Preparing the convention budget by making allocations to various activities related to the annual convention requires the desire to stretch the dollar bill to go farther; of course without tearing it off. The budget committee should first go through the list of activities and prioritize them in sequence of their importance and then make an educated guess as to how much money is required to support a particular activity. Here again, we do not have to reinvent the wheel. The budget committee should collect the budgets of the past three annual conventions and take careful look. There are a couple of ways in which this information can be used to develop a convention budget. One way would be take the highest number and incorporate it into the budget. This would produce a high-end but impractical budget. The convention budget developed should take into account the expected income and resources. For this purpose take the average of the past three convention budgets and add 5% to take care of the contingencies and inflation. Above all, estimate the available resources: incomes and expenditure based on the expected number of registrants and the income thus generated. Include also the subsidy from the convention trust fund and donations from the members. The budget development committee is well advised to consult the Finance/Fund Raising Committee, for the two activities go hand-in-hand. Once the budget had been finally developed, it should be gotten approved by the general body of the host-chapter.

How to Solicit Financial Help

There several avenues available to the host-chapters to raise funds to support the annual convention. The following is not the complete compendium, it is just a suggestion.

- Ascertain from the Central VSNA the approximate amount of support they can expect from the Convention trust Fund.
- Secondly, get your own members and others to sponsor activities and events included in your programs and tell them that their support and sponsorship would be duly appreciated and acknowledged.
- Thirdly, explore whether some of your members may like to take care of the hotel expenses of the convention guest.
- Fourthly, check with your members whether they would like to take care of the expenses related to the packages given to the convention registrants. Tell them that a note would be inserted in the package saying so and so supported this activity.
- Fifthly, see whether some of the members would like to host the breakfast for the attendees. Again, tell the prospective member that their support would be both announced in the meeting and that a write-up would be posted in a visible place to this effect.

Convention Insurance
During a public activity like the annual convention lasting 1 and ½ days, some times accidents may happen and the organizers are liable to face legal action. To help protect the host-chapter, the Central VSNA has blanket accident insurance policy. Please get hold of this vital information from the VSNA Secretary.

Emergency Medical Assistance

The organizers are well advised to take precautions against accidental injuries and medical assistance needs of the participants. If some of your friends are medical practitioners, please enlist their help to act as convention medicos. Do not fail announce this from the convention platform for the benefit of the participants.

Convention Souvenir Committee

It is a customary practice for the convention-hosts to produce the souvenir of the annual convention as permanent record of the convention. The souvenir goes to all the members listed in the VSNA membership directory. In naming the committee, the host-chapter should pay careful attention, for what you produce remains for a long time as record of your performance. Choose a person who is good in writing articles and editing.

Pictorial Convention Recording

The host-chapter should have on hand a good photographer to take pictures of events and activities for publication in the souvenir. Since a picture is worth a thousand words, careful attention must be paid in selecting pictures for inclusion in the souvenir.

Legal Contracts

Make certain that for such activities as renting the Convention Hall, reserving room in the hotel, catering agreements, etc. you should have duly signed contracts. Before signing on the dotted line of the contracts, please read the fine prints. If you are in doubt, please consult a paralegal.

Convention Evaluation

It is a good practice to know how well we done after we have done a job. There are many reasons for this. First and foremost is that we are accountable to our membership and sponsors. We would like to tell them that we have dispensed our responsibility to the best of our ability. The one way to demonstrate this is through performance evaluation. Since the participants are the ones who are going to evaluate the performance, it is like coming straight from the horse’s mouth. A good deal of credibility would be attached to the opinion of the participants. So the organizers should either use an Evaluation Form that has been used in the past or develop their own form. Please distribute this form at the end of the convention. Ask the attendees to place the completed form in box kept at the registration table. Collect the completed forms and perform the standard evaluation and publish the results in the convention souvenir for the benefit of the members.

Annual Convention Format

Reference is made here to the structured program format which had been developed to assist the host-chapter. Each of the items included in the program has been briefly described. Host-chapters are advised to scrupulously follow the suggested format to avoid unnecessary last minute head-aches. Some flexibility has been built into the suggested program to take care of last minute additions and/or drop outs. If you drop out(s), then you have to stretch some of the activities to the extent possible so that you can proceed without disrupting the planned activities.

This format will help to reduce the cost of the convention and also provide enough time to cover all the necessary events in two days. The youth camp or sightseeing tour for a group of people may be arranged before the convention. The next two pages will indicate the time slots for each event for both days of the convention. This is the standard format.

Although most of the items described in the Structured Program Format are self-explanatory and we have been seeing them for the past decades during the VSNA Annual Conventions, with a view to maintain overall uniformity in organizing and conducting various events a brief descriptions of the items is given below.

Day 1 - Morning Activities

Yoga and Meditation

This activity is designed to introduce the beginners to the techniques and practice and benefits of practicing yoga and meditation.

Linga Pooja

Worship of the isthalinga, provides an opportunity to those who do not want to miss their daily worship of the isthalinga. And a good opportunity for the youths to learn and practice Linga pooja.

Sightseeing

Since the conventions are usually organized in large cities with interesting things to see around the city and most of the participants usually do not know the city well enough to do on their own, the host-chapter usually arranges the conducted tour for the benefit of the attendees. This event usually provides a good occasion to the Veerashaiva youths to fellowship and permits them to make new friends.

Day 1 - Afternoon Activities

Competitions

To encourage our children and youth, the VSNA organizes various competitions such as the Vachana Recital, the Essay Writing Competition, Dance Competition, etc. Details regarding this activity are usually provided well in advance in detail in the convention brochure.

Orientation Course for: The chapters’ officers /Central VSNA officer-elect. To be successful, an organization must be run efficiently and effectively. To accomplish this goal the VSNA has developed a training program for the benefit of the officers. This activity provides information about the organization, its By-laws and how to administer the VSNA and its Chapters.

Religious Course

Since we do not have the mathas in our adopted country to help us with the learning of our religion and scripture, we try to minimize this problem through self-help. We ask our experienced members to help us by conducting religious classes for the benefit of our children (under12 years).
Social Activities
Since our number in our adopted land is small, and the country is too large, we do not get opportunities to meet and make new friends, the VSNA provides many occasions such as the Annual Convention. During this event, members introduce themselves to others and get to know each others.

Convention Reception Dinner
This is another example of Social Activity. The VSNA provides educational, religious cultural opportunities to its members during the conventions. The primary purpose of this Central VSNA sponsored event is fellowship and bonding with like minded folks.

Entertainment/Cultural
The families of the host chapter usually arrange this event to showcase their talents to their out of town/ state friends, who have gathered to celebrate the VSNA convention. This provides a relief from the day’s activities and puts the participants in a proper frame of mind for the coming day.

Day 2 - Morning Activities

Yoga and Meditation

Linga Pooja

Breakfast (7.15 a.m. to 08. 45 a.m.)

Invocation/Prayer Pooja (9.00 a.m. to 09. 30 a.m.)
Welcome by Host-Chapter’s president (5 minutes)
The President of the host chapter welcomes the participants and the guests in the name of all the members of her/his chapter and asks them to have a wonderful time.

Welcome by Convention Chairperson (5 minutes)
The Convention Chair in turn welcomes the guests, the VSNA Officers and the members at large on behalf of the chapter’s members and thanks all the local members for their support in the preparation of the convention.

State of the Samaja Message by VSNA President (20 minutes)
The VSNA By-laws stipulate that the president present an annual progress report on the health of the organization by describing what was planned for the year under review and what are accomplished since the last convention. This reflects the fact that the office-holders accountable to the members-at-large of the organization.
Report by the Chairman of the Board of Reagents (10 minutes)
The VSNA Board of Reagents is the think-tank of the organization. The Chairman’s presentation narrates the nature and extent of the planning activity and its success in bringing to fruition its plans.

Report by the VSNA Youth Board (10 minutes)
The youth board president narrates the results of the activities aimed to attract and motivate the veerashaiva youth.

Guest Speaker(s) (maximum of 50 minutes). If there is only one guest speaker, then he is given 40 minutes’ time. If there are two guest speakers, then each guest is given 25 minutes.

Lunch (12.00 Noon to 1.30 p.m.)

DAY 2 – Afternoon Activities

Anubhava Ghosti (60 ~ 75 minutes)
This is an open forum discussion of religious topics of general interest to laymen. Usually one or two coordinators are asked to conduct this discussion. The idea behind this group discussion is to provide the participants an avenue to engage in an exchange of information on religious matters. Living in an alien land has certain disadvantages. One of them is the lack of experts to provide us with religious advice, counsel and nourishment. We try to make this deficiency through this self-help program, at least once a year.

Health Workshop (About an hour) (Concurrent session)
Since the participants include expert health professionals, the VSNA arranges to provide a chance to the members to obtain helpful medical information on general topics. Usually a group of panel members expound and explain a particular disease and participate in the question and answer session.

Business Workshop (About an hour) (Concurrent session)
With a view to encourage our budding aspirants, the VSNA invites our members, who have been success as entrepreneurs, to participate in a panel discussion. The best way to learn how to run a business is right from the horses’ mouth, meaning from those who gained the firsthand knowledge through the rigorous and risks of running business endeavors. Thus the experienced folks lead the beginners by telling them how to avoid the pitfalls and headaches.

Youth Session (About an hour) (Concurrent session)
The VSNA considers its youth to be its leaders in waiting. To make certain the youth are ready when the opportunity knocks on their door, has created a VSNA Youth Board. The youths meet under the leadership of its president and discuss things upper most in their mind and vent them to their elders.
Coffee-tea break (15 – 20 minutes)

General Body Meeting (One Hour)
This occasion permits the Presidents of the VSNA Chapters to show case the activities of their respective chapters. The chapter-president presents a report of the activities of her/his chapter. The VSNA Officers also answer questions about the VSNA to the general members provided such a notice has been given to them three months before the convention.

Dinner
The Host Chapter arranges a dinner and a social event in honor of the participants.

Cultural Program

Post-Convention Activities

The responsibility of the convention-hosts won’t end with the end of the convention. At least two activities, in addition to paying off the convention bills, require their immediate attention. These activities are: (1) Convention Statement of Accounts and (2) Producing the Convention Souvenir. The following write-up is designed to assist the host chapter to successfully complete this aspect...

Convention Statement of Accounts

The host-chapter, rather the convention chairperson, should prepare statement of account reflecting the money received and the money spent on hosting the convention. To facilitate this, all receipts should be preserved for the inspection of the accountant, for this statement requires the signature of the duly qualified professional accountant. This has to be a professional job, for our accounts are subject to auditing by the U.S. Internal Revenue Service.

Convention Souvenir

The Convention Souvenir is a written record of the success of the convention. Since it reflects on the host-chapter, it should be prepared with due care and caution. Every effort should be expended and no stones should be left unturned to make this endeavor a truly outstanding undertaking. To accomplish objective, the souvenir committee should go the souvenirs of the previous conventions and should try to improve upon. Instead of waiting for the end of the convention to take up the task, the committee should embark right in earnest along with other committees. If the convention souvenir committee is composed of three members, the chairman should distribute the work among the three members. One member should be in charge of soliciting advertisements and sponsors. We have enough Veerashaiva entrepreneurs in our community to help us out. Besides, these are all tax deductible items, for the VSNA is a charitable non-taxable organization. Attempts should be made to make sure that the publication of the convention souvenir is a self-sustaining effort; meaning the revenues generated through advertisements should be able to take care of producing and mailing the souvenir. Since the souvenir is mailed to all the families who attended the convention and also to the life members, effort should be made to take advantage of the VSNA’s bulk-mailing arrangement. This would help to reduce the postal expenses. The third member should be assigned the task of soliciting and collecting articles suitable for publication in the convention souvenir. The editor himself/herself should make sure that the copies of the platform-presentations are on hand. After all the leg work has been done the committee should prepare a ‘dummy souvenir’ containing all the articles and pictures. The contents of this final copy of the souvenir have to be approved by the chairman of the convention and President of VSNA before it goes for printing. During the month of September, the editing and getting the final copy of the souvenir to the printer should be completed. If the printer hands back the souvenirs before October 15th, the host chapter would be in a good position to mail them during the last week of October.

NOTE

Sample Forms and Letters for the Annual Convention are on the following pages. They shall be updated according to the need. These are used for the Detroit Convention.
Sample Letter to invite members for the Convention

Date:

Dear Fellow Veerashaivas,

The Veerashaiva Samaja of XXXXXX XXXXXX Chapter has been privileged to host the XX the Annual VSNA Convention in 2007. The event will take place on July 7th & 8th at the prestigious Ford Community & Performing Arts Center in Dearborn, adjacent to the City of Detroit.

Being that cars are an important aspect of this area the Detroit is referred to as “The Motor City”. This exciting city that features Renaissance Center, Greek Town, Casinos, museums, Art Galleries, Zoo, Detroit Institute of Arts, Detroit Science Center, etc. Some of the main tourist attractions around Detroit are Greenfield Village, Henry Ford Museum, Ford IMAX Theater, Ford Rouge Factory Tour and many more. So do not miss this once in a life time opportunity to see and experience the thrill of Detroit Metro area.

The VSMI families are working hard to make this convention a successful one and most of all a memorable one. The Detroit is very expensive to host the convention of this magnitude. Hence, I seek your financial help in the form of donation, which is tax deductible, and also your cooperation. Please note that if you donate $1000 or more the convention registration is free up to four of your family members.

On behalf of Detroit Chapter families, I welcome you to join us with your family, friends and relatives in celebrating our 30th VSNA convention. Please keep on visiting the web site: www.vsna.org/2007 for convention updates.

Sincerely,

XXXXXXXXXX

From: Fund Raising Committee
30th VSNA Annual Convention

Ref: Requesting Donation for the Convention

Dear,

As you know the Veerashaiva Samaja of Michigan-Detroit Chapter is going to host the 30th VSNA convention in Dearborn, Michigan on July 7th & 8th, 2007. Preparation for the convention is well in progress. Please see the enclosed convention flyer for more details or you may access details on the web: vsna.org/2007.

The convention committee members have worked hard to find the cheapest and the best facility to hold the convention. Their goal is to bring down the cost of the convention at least 30 – 40% compared to the last four conventions held in Columbus, New York, Atlanta and Maryland. The national VSNA conventions are expensive and normally each convention costs about $100,000.

The fund raising committee has identified you as a qualified “Silver Patron” of the convention. Your donation of $1000 entitles a free registration of your four family members. A single registration cost is $89. This kind of opportunity to donate money for a convention comes once in 10 years, so please be generous.

The planning of the convention depends on your help and cooperation. Therefore we request you to send your donation as soon as possible. Please make check payable to “VSNA Convention 2007” and mail it to: Mamtha Kavi. 30392 Southampton.

Farmington Hills, MI 48331.

Thank you in advance for considering our request favorably.
